

WWU Summer Session Supplemental Application Information (For International Students)

Never Attended Western?

Prospective international students (non-U.S. citizens or non-U.S. permanent residents) who are applying for Summer Session only must be either fully admitted to WWU as a degree-seeking student or currently hold a visa status in the U.S. which allows for study.

International students who have never attended Western must be formally admitted through WWU Admissions to a degree program at WWU before an I-20 Certificate of Eligibility (needed for F-1 student status) can be issued.

Western Washington University cannot provide an I-20 Certificate of Eligibility or give assistance in obtaining F-1 student status for taking classes during Summer Session only. Summer-only students must have student visa status already through enrollment at another U.S. college or university or currently hold a visa status in the U.S. which allows for study.

Note: If you are currently in F-1 or J-1 status, holding an I-20 or DS-2109 from another U.S. school, and you intend to continue studying at your present school after Summer Session, you do not need an I-20 or DS-2019 from Western. You may attend Western's Summer Session part-time or full-time.

English Proficiency Requirement

International students must demonstrate English language proficiency with a minimum Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) score of 550 (paper-based), or 80 (internet-based).

Canadian Citizens

Students from Canada must meet all requirements applicable to those from other countries, as outlined above.

WWU Intensive English Program

Western offers a program for students who wish to improve their English language skills. Contact the Intensive English Program at <https://ee.wvu.edu/intensive-english-program> .
